

ANNOUNCING THE EXECUTIVE LUNCHEON SERIES

Government Executive and the National Academy of Public Administration's Executive Consortium to host 8 forums in 2005 and 2006

WASHINGTON – A new luncheon series on achieving performance and results in government begins this October.

The series is a joint effort between Government Executive, the premier news source for federal managers, and the National Academy of Public Administration (Academy), the preeminent independent, non-profit organization for public governance. Established in 1967 and chartered by Congress, the Academy has become an independent source of trusted advice for every branch and level of government.

“We are excited to work with the Academy in hosting prominent forums on provocative issues for our readers,” said Timothy B. Clark, Editor and President of Government Executive. “Federal managers are looking for new, effective ways to improve performance and results, and this series will cover innovative ideas and best practices.”

“Our Executive Consortium looks forward to building elite panels of federal thought-leaders for this series,” said C. Morgan Kinghorn, President of the Academy. “This series will help connect people and groups with diverse views and ideas for the shared purpose of improving performance in the federal government.”

The first of the series of 8 luncheons will be held October 20th at the Willard Hotel. The topic is “Stovepipes No More: How Agencies Can Coordinate to Achieve Better Performance.”

Panelists include:

- David Chu, Under Secretary for Personnel and Readiness and Chief Human Capital Officer, Department of Defense
- Susan Grant, Chief Financial Officer, Department of Energy
- Kim Nelson, Assistant Administrator and Chief Information Officer, Environmental Protection Agency
- Deidre Lee, Assistant Commissioner for Integrated Technology, General Services Administration

The next luncheon, November 10th, on “Fiscal 2006 and Beyond” will discuss the federal budget dilemma and strategies for coping with the imbalance between revenue and demands for spending. Six more luncheons are planned for 2006.

To attend an event email napalunch@govexec.com.

For more information visit www.govexec.com and www.napawash.org.

###