

How should government improve its management and operations?

The submission form will require you to answer the following questions.

- Identify a title for your proposed challenge
- Bucket your challenge in one of the following areas:
 - Strategy
 - Intergovernmental Relations
 - Intersectoral Relations
 - Planning
 - Workforce
 - Budgeting
 - Civic Engagement
 - Other
- Over the next decade, what is the most important thing that government can do to improve its management and operations so it has the capacity to address the most critical challenges facing the United States?
- Why must government address this proposed grand challenge?
- What specific actions should be taken to address this challenge?
- What would success look like if, over the next decade, this proposed grand challenge were addressed effectively by government?
- You may upload 5 relevant information sources that provide additional background on this challenge.

What must government do over the next decade?

The submission form will require you to answer the following questions.

- Identify a title for your proposed challenge
- Bucket your challenge in one of the following areas:
 - Science, technology, and innovation
 - Equity and inclusion
 - Security and resilience
 - Economic development and fiscal sustainability
 - Individual well-being
 - Other
- Over the next decade, what is a grand challenge that government (federal, state, and/or local) must address in order for American society to reach its full potential?
- Why must government address this proposed grand challenge?
- What are the public administration aspects or implications of this challenge?
- What specific actions should be taken to address this challenge?
- What would success look like if, over the next decade, this proposed grand challenge were addressed effectively by government?
- You may upload 5 relevant information sources that provide additional background on this challenge.