For Immediate Release
Contact: Betsy Holahan bholahan@greatpointstrategies.com

MEDIA ADVISORY
National Academy of Public Administration & Management Systems International
To Host Forum on Fostering Innovation in Government

WASHINGTON, DC – The National Academy of Public Administration and Management Systems International (MSI) will host an April 25th forum on fostering greater innovation in government, with a focus on how government can more effectively develop innovative leaders, build more innovative cultures, and better empower government employees to create and inspire.

Stephen Goldsmith, Daniel Paul Professor of Government and the Director of Innovations in American Government Program at the Harvard Kennedy School of Government, will deliver keynote remarks and participate in a Q&A session with attendees. He is the former Mayor of Indianapolis, the former Deputy Mayor of Operations for New York City, and has written a number of books on innovative governance.

Following Professor Goldsmith’s remarks, there will be a plenary break-out session and a panel discussion on “Shaping Creative Environments,” featuring Kristin McNally, Director of the Office of Employee Engagement at the U.S. Department of Labor; Sharon Kershbaum, Chief Operating Officer of the Department of Human Services for the District of Columbia government; David Milestone, Acting Director of the Center for Innovation and Impact, Global Health Bureau at the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID); and Arianne Miller, Managing Director of The Lab at the U.S. Office of Personnel Management (OPM).

WHAT: National Academy of Public Administration and MSI forum:
Unleashing Workplace Creativity: Fostering a Government of Innovation

WHEN: April 25, 2019
8:30 AM – 12:00 PM ET

WHERE: National Academy of Public Administration
1600 K Street, N.W., Suite 400 (enter on 16th Street)
Washington, D.C. 20006

WHO: Speakers and panelists include:
Joseph Christoff, Senior Vice President, Management Systems International, a Tetra Tech Company (introduction)
Stephen Goldsmith, Daniel Paul Professor of Government and Director of Innovations in American Government Program, Harvard Kennedy School of Government
Kristin McNally, Director, Office of Employee Engagement, U.S. Department of Labor
Sharon Kershbaum, Chief Operating Officer, Department of Human Services, District of Columbia government
David Milestone, Acting Director, Center for Innovation and Impact, Global Health Bureau, U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID)
Arienne Miller, Managing Director, The Lab, U.S. Office of Personnel Management (OPM)
Teresa Gerton, President and CEO, National Academy of Public Administration (closing)

MEDIA: Media planning to attend the event should RSVP by April 24 to Betsy Holahan, bholahan@greatpointstrategies.com

About the National Academy of Public Administration
Chartered by Congress to provide non-partisan expert advice, the Academy is an independent, non-profit, and non-partisan organization established in 1967 to assist government leaders in building more effective, efficient, accountable, and transparent organizations. Learn more at www.napawash.org

About Management Systems International (MSI)
Founded in the 1980s, MSI helps clients solve complex management challenges. Our innovative tools and methodologies increase productivity, build capacity, and improve organizational and project performance. MSI is an affiliate of Tetra Tech, a nationally recognized environmental management and engineering firm with offices across the U.S. and overseas. For more information on MSI, please visit our web-site at www.msiworldwide.com.

###